Copenhagen, November 26, N. S.

THE 19th Inſtant in the Afternoon a Cannon being to be caſt, his Daniſh Majeſty went to the Foundery in this City. Within the Houſe appointed for that Purpoſe, was a Scaffold of Sixteen or Eighteen Steps from the Floor, for the Court, where his Majeſty and his Attendance ſtood to ſee the Performance, and beſides them a Crowd of all Sorts of People had been permitted to get up upon the ſame Place. In the Middle of the Work the Mould of the Cannon burſt, but did no Hurt; only the hot Metal ſetting Fire to ſome Parts of the Houſe where it fell, terrified the People, ſo that every one preſſing forward to ſave himſelf, his Majeſty was puſhed off the Scaffold as he was going to deſcend the Stairs, and ſeveral Perſons along with him. He was preſently taken up by an Officer, and convey'd to the Palace in the firſt Coach they found at the Door; the Heat of the Place, the Surprize, and the Violence of the Fall had taken away his Senſes, but by Bleeding and other proper Applications he was ſoon recovered. His Majeſty had a Bruiſe on his Side, ſuppoſed to be occaſioned by the Hilt of his Sword, which was broke to Pieces in the Fall. The Prince Royal being otherwiſe engaged that Day, did not go with the King to the Foundery. As ſoon as the Place was clear, the Fire was eaſily extinguiſhed; and no Miſchief was done, but what proceeded from the Hurry and Diſorder of the Crowd. The Grand Marſhal of the Court is very much hurt, but no Perſon of Diſtinction beſides. His Daniſh Majeſty has not ſtirred out of his Chamber ſince the Accident; but is ſaid to be in good Health.
